Markets

Equity markets across the globe hit record-highs last week on Fed driven expectations of rate cuts by year-end: S&P 500 registered its biggest weekly percentage gain of 2024, as did the MSCI World index; Stoxx 600 and Japan's Nikkei climbed to new all-time highs. Regional markets saw Abu Dhabi post a weekly gain after 4 consecutive weeks of losses while Egypt posted the biggest drop of 7.2%. Among currencies, the dollar strengthened while the CNY and JPY touched a four-month low (the former given expectations of monetary easing and the latter recovering afterwards); the Swiss Franc slid after the central bank's surprise rate cut. Oil prices were influenced by ceasefire negotiations, alongside dollar strength and lower demand. Gold touched a record high on Thursday but closed the week slightly lower at USD 2,164 per ounce.

Weekly % changes for the week ending 21 Mar -22 Mar from 14 Mar (regional) & 15 Mar (international)

Global Developments

- The German ZEW economic sentiment index improved to 31.7 in Mar (Feb: 19.9). The current situation index edged up by just 1.2 points to -80.5. The survey also showed that more than 80% of respondents expect the ECB to cut interest rates in the next six months. The eurozone's economic sentiment indicator rose by 8.5 points to 33.5 in Mar though the current situation indicator fell by 1.4 points to -54.8 points.

- German Ifo business climate index rose to 87.8 in Mar (Feb: 85.7), the highest since Jun 2023. Both current assessment and expectations improved to 88.1 and 87.5 (from 86.9 and 84.4 respectively).
- Germany's flash manufacturing PMI fell to a 5-month low of 41.6 in Mar (Feb: 42.5), with businesses reporting faster declines in factory employment and stock of purchases. While services PMI inched up, it stayed below-50 for the sixth month in a row, at 49.8 (Feb: 48.3).
- Producer price index in Germany shrank by 4.1% yoy in Feb (Jan: -4.4%), the eighth month in a row of deflationary readings, as energy costs plunged by 10.1%. Meanwhile, prices of non-durable and durable consumer goods were up by 0.2% and 1.5% respectively while capital goods prices grew by 2.8%.
- The Bank of England left rates unchanged at a 16-year high of 5.25%, while sounding less hawkish – stating that the nation is “moving in the right direction” towards potential rate cuts.
- UK's preliminary manufacturing PMI inched closer to 50: 49.9 in Mar from Feb's 47.5, with new orders expanding the most since May 2022 and the 1-year outlook was optimistic (highest reading in 11 months). Services PMI edged slightly lower to 53.4 (Feb: 53.8).
- Inflation in the UK slipped to 3.4% yoy in Feb (Jan: 4%), its lowest level since Sep 2021, as food costs eased (to 5% from Jan's 6.9%) alongside lower prices at restaurants and hotels (6% from 7% in Jan). Core CPI slipped to 4.5% (Jan: 5.1%), the lowest since Jan 2022.
- UK retail sales volume remained flat in Feb from a month ago but fell by 0.4% yoy (Jan: 0.5%). Sales remained 1.3% below levels before the pandemic in 2020. Clothing and department stores posted mom increases of 1.7% and 1.6% respectively while online sales grew by 2.1% (the most since Jul 2023).

- Producer price index for output in the UK inched up to 0.4% yoy in Feb (Jan: -0.3%), the highest since Jun; the PPI for inputs was deflationary for the ninth consecutive month (-2.7% from Jan's -2.8%). Retail price index edged lower to 4.5% (Jan: 4.9%).
- UK's GfK consumer confidence index unexpectedly remained steady at -21 in Mar. The index measuring consumers' confidence in their personal finance in the next 12 months rose to 2, the first positive and highest reading since Dec 2021.

Asia Pacific:

- The PBoC left the 1- and 5-year loan prime rates unchanged at 3.45% and 3.95% respectively.
- Industrial production in China grew by 7% yoy in Jan-Feb (Dec: 6.8%). Retail sales were up by 5.5% in Feb, slower than Dec's 7.4% gain. Fixed asset investment in China increased by 4.2% in Jan-Feb (2023: 3%) while property investment fell 9% yoy in Jan-Feb, after a sharp 24% fall in Dec.
- The Bank of Japan announced its first interest-rate increase in 17 years raising the overnight interest rate to a range of 0.0-0.1% from -0.1% before, and also abandoned its yield curve control policy. The BoJ will maintain "accommodative" financial conditions and keep buying "broadly the same amount" of government bonds, according to its statement.
- Inflation in Japan accelerated to 2.8% in Feb (Jan: 2.2%) while excluding food and energy prices rose by 3.2% (vs Jan's 3.5%). Excluding fresh food, prices rose to 2.8% (Jan: 2%), given the increase in petrol costs, processed food prices and hotel fees.
- Japan's exports grew by 7.8% yoy in Feb (Jan: 11.9%), with exports of cars and electrical machinery rising.

While exports to China and Asia rose by just 2.5% and 2.3% yoy, exports to the US and EU surged by 18% and 16% respectively. Imports rebounded by 0.5% (Jan: -9.8%). Trade balance narrowed to a JPY 379.4bn deficit (Jan: JPY 1760.3bn deficit).

- Industrial production in Japan plunged by 6.7% mom and 1.5% yoy in Jan. The mom decline in IP was the steepest since May 2020, with motor vehicles production plunging by 15.9% (Dec: 0.3%). Separately, machinery orders fell by 1.7% mom and 10.9% yoy in Jan.
- The preliminary manufacturing PMI for Japan inched up by 1 point to 48.2 in Mar, as the decline in both output and new orders eased, employment increased, and input-cost inflation stood at an 8-month low. Services PMI was up 2 points to 54.9, the 19th month of growth and the strongest since May.
- India's preliminary manufacturing PMI rose to 59.2 in Mar (Feb: 56.9), the highest reading since Feb 2008, thanks to a surge in both output and new orders. Services PMI meanwhile edged down to 60.3 (Feb: 60.6), with output cost inflation accelerating to an 80-month high.

Bottom line: The only unexpected move from last week's spate of central bank meetings was the surprise rate cut by Switzerland; the Fed and ECB are expected to cut rates later this year and the BoE governor suggested that rate cuts are "in play" (possibly more than one rate cut this year) given "encouraging signs" of falling inflation: could we be looking at multiple rate cuts in June? While the BoJ's first rate hike in 17 years was anticipated, there are unlikely to be any further hikes in the immediate near-term. The flash PMIs continued to indicate expansion in the US and UK while in the wider eurozone composite PMI inched closer to the 50-mark (49.9 in Mar, the highest in 9 months). One consistent messaging across the board is of rising prices pressures – both input costs and selling prices. But amid messaging of rate cuts from major central banks, business optimism rose to the highest since Mar 2022.
