Markets

Major equity markets had a good week, with Chinese markets taking relief from Trump's comments on a softer tariff stance. Regional equities performance was mixed, with Qatar gaining on news of new investor-friendly laws while markets were largely cautious about potential tariffs (that could impact major oil producers). The dollar slipped while euro and GBP posted 2% weekly gains in a week when yen moved higher after the rate hike (and stayed volatile), and Trump's softer China stance lifted CNY to its strongest reading in 8 weeks. Oil prices declined last week after 4 weekly gains, and uncertainties related to Trump's policies caused gold to move closer to record highs. Bitcoin touched a new record high last Monday (USD 109k+) on expectations of light regulations under the Trump administration but slipped lower later in the week.

Weekly % changes for the week ending 23-24 Jan from 16 Jan (regional) & 17 Jan (international)

Global Developments

US/Americas:

- Flash manufacturing PMI in the US moved to expansionary territory to 50.1 in Jan (Dec: 49.4) the highest since June. Services PMI slowed to 52.8 (Dec: 56.8), taking the composite PMI Output index to a 9-month low of 52.4 (Dec: 55.4). Input prices rose to 58.5 (from 56.0), output charges rose to 53.8 (from 52.1) and employment jumped to a 2.5 year-high of 53.7 (mostly in services sector).
- Existing home sales grew by 2.2% mom to 4.24mn in Dec: though the reading was the highest since Feb, full year sales was the lowest since 1995 and the median existing home price stood at a record-high of USD 407,500.
- Michigan consumer sentiment index was revised down to 71.1 in Jan (prelim: 73.2; Dec: 74.0), with declines in both current conditions (74 from 77.9) and expectations (to 69.3 from 70.2). The 5-year inflation expectation was lowered to 3.2% (from an earlier 3.3% print).
- Initial jobless claims increased by 6k to 223k in the week ended Jan 17, leading to a decline in the 4-week average to 213.5k (by 0.75k). Continuing jobless claims increased by 46k to 1.899mn in the week ended Jan 10, the highest reading since mid-Nov 2021.

Europe:

- EU's flash manufacturing PMI rose to 46.1 in Jan (Dec: 45.1), helping the composite PMI cross into an expansionary reading of 50.2 (Dec: 49.6). Composite PMI in Germany climbed to a 7-month high of 50.1 in Jan (Dec: 48), turning expansionary thanks to an increase in both manufacturing PMI (to 44.1 from Dec's 42.5) and services PMI (to 52.5 from 51.2). Meanwhile, France's services industry shrank even further (to 48.9 from 49.3 in Dec).
- Consumer confidence in the euro area moderated to -14.2 in Jan (Dec: -14.5), with consumers expecting more rate cuts this year. In the broader EU, sentiment was steady (-13.3).
- Producer price index in Germany grew by 0.8% yoy in Dec (Nov: 0.1%), with prices inching up for the second month in a row following more than a year of deflation. The increase was largely due to higher prices for non-durable consumer goods (2.6%) and capital goods (1.8%) while energy costs fell (-0.2%).
- Germany's ZEW economic sentiment weakened to 10.3 in Jan (Dec: 15.7) whilst recording a slight improvement in the current situation (-90.4 from -93.1). Economic sentiment index in the eurozone was more optimistic, with the reading up one point to 18.
- Average earnings in the UK increased by 5.6% in the 3 months to Nov (prev: 5.2%) but while taking inflation also into account the increase was 3.2% (the highest since 2007, when excluding pandemic months). In the meantime, UK unemployment rate inched up to 4.4% in Nov (Oct: 4.3%) – some signs of a cooling labour market.

- GfK consumer confidence in the UK slumped to -22 in Jan (Dec: -17), the lowest reading since Nov 2023.

Asia Pacific:

- The People's Bank of China left interest rates unchanged at 3.1% earlier last week; on Friday, the PBoC injected CNY 200bn worth 1-year medium-term lending facility loans to some financial institutions (at an unchanged 2% rate).
- The Bank of Japan hiked rates by 25 bps to 0.5%, the highest since 2008. The Bank raised its core inflation projection to stay north of the 2% target for three years citing potential higher import costs (from a weaker yen) and labour shortages among others.
- Inflation in Japan surged to 3.6% yoy in Dec (Nov: 2.9%). Excluding fresh food, prices rose to a 16-month high of 3% (Nov: 2.7%) but excluding food and energy, prices were unchanged at 2.4%.
- Japan's exports increased by 2.8% yoy in Dec (Nov: 3.8%) while imports rebounded (1.8% from -3.8%). For the full year, exports clocked in a record-high JPY 107.9trn (the second year in a row of JPY 100trn+) while trade deficit totalled JPY 5.3trn.
- Industrial production in Japan fell by 2.2% mom and 2.7% yoy in Nov (Oct: -2.3% mom and -2.8% yoy)
- The flash manufacturing PMI in Japan unexpectedly declined to 48.8 in Jan (Dec: 49.6), as new orders declined (the most in 6 months), output fell (the sharpest drop since Apr) while employment rose. Services PMI inched up to 52.7 (Dec: 50.9), with new orders rising for the 7th consecutive month.
- India's manufacturing PMI moved up to 58 in Jan (Dec: 56.4), thanks to a rebound in output and new orders. Services PMI slowed to 56.8 (Dec: 59.3), the slowest gain since Nov 2022, despite an increase in new orders (boosted by foreign sales); meanwhile input prices rose to the highest in 1.5 years.

- GDP in South Korea expanded by 0.1% qoq and 1.2% yoy in Q4, according to preliminary estimates: this was the slowest yoy rise since Q2 2023. Private consumption ticked up by 0.2% alongside a 0.5% uptick in government consumption, and exports gained by 0.3%.
- Korea's producer price index rose by 0.3% mom and 1.7% yoy in Dec (0.1% mom & 1.4% yoy); yoy costs were driven up by manufacturing products (1.2% vs Nov's 0.5%).
- Inflation in Singapore remained unchanged at 1.6% in Dec though prices of food and housing edged up to 2.5% each while healthcare was up by 2.7%. Core inflation fell sharply to 1.8%, the lowest level in more than 3 years, and from 1.9% in Nov.
- The Monetary Authority of Singapore eased monetary policy for the first time in 5 years, with the slope of the SGD NEER band lowered "slightly"; the width of the policy band and the level were left unchanged. Core inflation is projected to average 1.0–2.0% in 2025, lower than the 1.5–2.5% estimate in Oct 2024.
- Singapore's industrial production fell by 0.7% mom in Dec (Nov: 1.7%). In yoy terms, IP grew by 10.6% (Nov: 10.8%), thanks to transport engineering output (16%) and electronics output (14.3%) amid the volatile biomedical manufacturing sector up by 9.4%.

Bottom line: Fed meets this week and is widely expected to leave rates unchanged. President Trump's comments on China and potential tariffs were softer-than-expected following a phone call with President Xi. But, events later in the week offer a glimpse of increased uncertainty in the near-term:- a tariff hike was imposed on Colombia after a deportation flight was denied permission to land and Colombia in turn pushed for retaliatory tariffs – these have since been rolled back. Of greater worry are statements about Greenland and pushing for Jordan and Egypt to accept Palestinian refugees (a major deviation from the US stance of a 2-state solution).

Regional Developments
