

Interview with BBC's World Business Report on World Bank's $250mn funding to Lebanon, 26 Jun 2025

In an interview with BBC's World Business Report, Dr. Nasser Saidi discussed Lebanon's immense reconstruction and redevelopment needs following the war between Israel and Hizbollah and the devastation of infrastructure, housing, agriculture, businesses and mass population displacement, adding to more than a decade of an absence of investments in infrastructure and public utilities and services.

Key points from the discussion below:

The World Bank recently approved a USD 250mn loan to launch a broader USD 1bn recovery and reconstruction initiative called the Lebanon Emergency Assistance Project – while a positive step, the amount is a drop in the ocean compared to what is required for reconstruction & redevelopment in Lebanon. The World Bank satellite-based estimates of reconstruction requirements of about $11bn have to be complemented by in-depth field estimates. Israel's use of bunker buster bombs can have an impact destructive radius of up to 200m in urban areas.

Well-aware of the problems needed to be sorted out domestically, from economic policy and structural reforms to combating endemic corruption & the need for accountability and transparency. Reconstructing and redevelopment investments need to go in tandem with the other reforms. But it is a bit like the chicken & egg problem. If we don't have reconstruction, then poverty will grow & displacement and migration will continue, eventually leading to greater socio-economic and political instability.

I am an advocate of creating an international reconstruction fund (funding that comes mostly as grants rather than debt which cannot be sustained and serviced) to support LB with the strong backing and engagement of the GCC countries. A comprehensive package is required that includes a build up military, security assets and capability and political assistance to provide security and stability. This will be a massive support for the country that has seen a new boost in confidence with the new President Aoun, PM Salam & government – promising a strong willingness to reform, a break from the ineffective governments since the onset of crises in 2019.
